Mission Headed by Erzberger Due At Headquarters Early Last Evening

Officially announced late tonight that the delegates should pass the French outputs before 10 o'clock tonight.

Keeping Open All Night.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The offices of Secretary Baker, Secretary Lansing, and the committee on public information were kept open all night tonight, with officials waiting to announce immediately any news that might come of the result of Marshal Foch's meeting with the German armistice envoys.

No Messages Held Back.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Late tonight George Creel, chairman of the committee on public information, issued the following statement as the result of widely circulated reports that the cable censorship was holding up dispatches which might confirm the false announcement earlier today that an armistice had been signed. "Any such report is absolutely untrue. No despatch bearing upon any phase of the armistice negotiations is being stopped or even halted in the New York office. The channel is wide open."

Envoys Reach French Lines.

Washington, D.C., Nov. 7.—Just before midnight the American government was informed by cable from Paris that the German armistice envoys had approached the French lines and were due to arrive for their meeting with Marshal Foch between 8 and 10 o'clock tonight, Paris time.

The statement was authorized at the state department that no information had been received of the signing of the armistice terms, or even of the actual arrival of the Germans within the French lines.

No Word at 3 o'clock.

Washington, Nov. 8.—At 3 o'clock this (Friday) morning, officials of the state and war departments, who were keeping an all-night vigil, still were without information indicating that German envoys had signed the armistice terms. In fact, at that hour no news, official or unofficial, had come that the envoys had passed through the French lines where they were due between eight and ten o'clock last night, Paris time.

London, Nov. 7 (5:31 p.m.)—The British troops continued their steady advance along the whole front south of the Meuse-Cards canal, according to Marshal Haig's report. The statement reads:

"We reached La Capelle, south of Maubege road, on both sides of Avenue, and have gained the western outskirts of the town. Across the Sambre river we are in the vicinity of Neufmarché."

"North of the river Sambre is in our hands, and our troops have made progress east of the town. On the left we have taken Elouge and Henchies, and have reached the Condé-Meuse canal north of the latter village."

London, Nov. 8.—(Associated Press.)—The movement which resulted in the seizing of virtually the entire German navy by revolutionary forces was carried out in a fairly peaceful manner, according to the Copenhagen Telegraph correspondent in Copenhagen.
