Otter Falls Campground

- Come and explore the Whiteshell for yourself

Otter Falls is found in the rustic environment of the Boreal Shield, but close to modern conveniences like a resort store, restaurant, and marina.

The campground is located at the northern end of Whiteshell Provincial Park, a large natural area that is characterized by numerous lakes, rivers and rugged Precambrian Shield. The park accommodates a diversity of recreational uses and is a great place to view wildlife. Keep your binoculars handy for the many viewing opportunities that will appear.

Otter Falls campground is situated along the powerful Winnipeg River. The river's strength was so powerful during fur trading times that canoes were sometimes tipped over while trying to shoot the rapids. Otter Falls was one of the locations where rushing waters claimed a canoe's provisions. The supplies remained on the river's bottom until underwater archaeology conducted near the falls recovered numerous artifacts from years past.

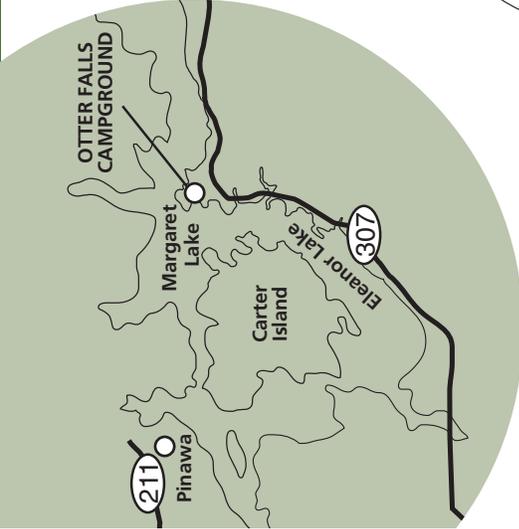

The campground is within driving distance of many area attractions, such as self-guiding and mountain bike trails. Pine Point Trail is a 8.2 km self-guiding trail that consists of two loops that lead through the boreal forest, a special spot for those looking for scenic vistas of waterfalls and rapids. Foresters Footsteps, a little farther down PR 307, takes you through both a natural forest and planted jack pine and red pine forest. For something a little different, why not try a pontoon boat tour?

Visit the Whiteshell Natural History Museum - a log cabin that displays a superb collection of bird and animal specimens of the boreal forest. The museum also gives tours of the Bannock Point Petroforms. Discover "boulder mosaics" in the shapes of snakes, fish, turtles and birds, made centuries ago by Aboriginal people. They are considered sacred places where communication with the spirits can take place.
